

Travelling to Ucluelet during COVID

Together we can all do our part to have fun and stay safe!

Over the coming weeks and months, as restrictions of travel begin to ease during this active pandemic, the west coast is preparing to find the balance of welcoming visitors back to the area while keeping our communities safe.

We want the summer to be enjoyable for everyone, respecting the health guidelines by the province as well as physical distancing while in our shops, on our trails and beaches.

And when you arrive on the west coast, our staff at the Pacific Rim Visitor Centre will be available to help answer any of your questions.

We know you want to help keep the coast safe and we want you to know that the coast is doing everything possible to keep you safe as well.

Here's what we're doing to protect you when you come to the west coast:

- All accommodators, restaurants, shops, and stores are implementing provincially approved guidelines for cleaning and physical distancing to keep staff and patrons safe.
- All activity providers have created additional safety measures as well as implemented provincially approved guidelines for cleaning and physical distancing to keep staff and visitors safe.
- Due to limited space and modified group sizes, please call ahead to activity providers to see if there are additional items you are required to bring in advance of your trip.
